LACEMAKER TO DEMONSTRATE HIS ART HERE

An ex-GI who has become famed in the Baltimore area for his skill as a lacemaker will demonstrate his art at the Pennsylvania Dutch Fete to be held here June 26, 27 and 28.

John Byers, president of the Associated Arts and Crafts Guild of Adams County, which is sponsoring the "Dutch Fete," said Joseph Stricklen, of Parkville, Md., will be here to demonstrate his lace making which is the same as that made in Honiton, England, where expert lacemakers turn out what is called "the finest lace in the world."

Stricklen, who may be the only American to have learned the methods of making Honiton lace, learned the art because he met an English girl while stationed in England during the last war.

Tedious Work

Deciding to buy a present for the girl, who later became his wife, Stricklen asked his company for suggestions concerning an appropriate gift. His command officer suggested Honiton lace. Stricklen secured a lace collar for the girl, and, fascinated by the work, decided to learn how to make the lace.

That opportunity came in 1943, when he and his bride returned to Honiton, England, and he took instruction in the work. The lace is worked on a straw-stuffed pillow, with linen thread wound on bobbins and the design made by using a needle pin and throwing the bobbins. So intricate is the work that a magnifying glass must be used frequently. The process is tedious and necessarily slow, with Stricklen explaining that with the more intricate pieces "I may be able to do only two or three rows in an hour."

The type of lace work was originally done by nuns in the middle centuries and its original name was "nunwork" lace.

Can You Skin An Animal, Do Jiu-Jitsu, Identify Birds' Eggs? Ask Adams County Library Staff

Do you know how to skin an animal, identify birds' eggs, do jiu-jitsu tricks or write an invitation for a double wedding ceremony?

A lot of other folk in Adams County didn't know how either—until they consulted the staff at the Adams County Free Library and got the answers.

"Reference questions" is the way Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, the county librarian, and her staff classify such queries and they answer questions like that at the rate of about 35 or 40 a month in addition to their more routine duties.

Answer Most Queries

"We're able to answer most of the questions from books on our shelves or by getting special books or certain topics from other libraries," Mrs. Wilson said. "Every now and then there's one that stops us. Right now we're looking for the facts on a 'bushwhacking incident at Cashdown' during the Civil War. We haven't found the details on that one yet."

The number of reference questions answered by the staff is included in the monthly report of the librarian to the board of directors as a regular part of the library's service.

REVIVED AFTER BEING OVERCOME BY SMOKE IN BED

Harry Small, 29 Breckenridge St., suffered a burn on the left thigh and was overcome by smoke shortly before midnight Friday night, when the bedclothing on the bed in which he was sleeping caught fire.

Firemen said he had been smoking in bed and fell asleep.

The fire department was called at 11:50 p.m. Two of its members, Fire Chief Donald G. Jacobs and Glenn Weishaar went directly from their homes to the fire, found Janet Small, 13, in a front room downstairs, and made their way through dense smoke to the bedroom, where they rescued Mr. Small and took him to the sidewalk.

The fire department inhalator was used to administer oxygen, and Assistant Fire Chief Donald E. Staub and Dr. J. J. Knox took Small to the hospital. His condition was reported as satisfactory today.

Smoke Hampers Rescue

Dense smoke was pouring from the house when firemen arrived and it was with difficulty that Jacobs and Weishaar made the rescue. Firemen who arrived with the trucks forced their way through the smoke to open windows and ventilate the house.

The mattress and bedclothing were burned and a small spot on the floor scorched, but there was no other damage, except from the smoke which permeated the house, they said. The bedclothing was thrown into the street and booster lines used there to extinguish it.

Firemen said that the daughter, who discovered the fire, was asleep in a second floor rear bedroom. Mrs. Small was not at home at the time.

WILL FILE NEW FORGERY COUNT

State police of the Gettysburg Substation said today a second forgery charge will be filed against Clifford S. McFerren, 39, of Biglerville R. 1.

McFerren on Thursday signed a plea of guilty before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore to a charge of forging a check on the First National Bank of Allentown for $42.50 which was cashed by Robert Newman, Fairfield, they said.

Now it has been discovered, according to the police, that McFerren forged a check on the same bank for $33.40 which was cashed by Daniel J. Mickley, Cashtown.

Police said the names, even that of the bank, were fictitious. There is no bank of that name in Allentown, they said. The second check was drawn in favor of "Harry Burkholder," and was signed by Harold Mossenberg, of the fictitious, police said, firm of Mossenberg and Bretz.

McFerren, who was employed by Frederic Griest, manager of the Prickett estate, is also to be charged with the theft of several blankets and cooking utensils belonging to the estate, and issued to him at the time of his employment at Flora Dale, police said.

He is in the Adams County jail, where he was committed by Justice Basehore in default of $500 after pleading guilty to the first forgery charge Thursday. He was arrested by state police Tuesday.

CHINESE REDS
DRIVE IN FORCE
FOR THIRD DAY

SEOUL (P)—More than 5,000 Chinese Reds attacked at a dozen points along a 50-mile front in Central Korea today, driving Allied troops from main line positions in one sector.

American and South Korean infantrymen battled hand-to-hand with Reds who stormed into U.N. trenches and hurled back most of the attackers.

But Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that one sector of the main Allied line was hastily shifted southward after Reds grabbed vital fortifications.

Farneti said Allied tanks, flame throwers and guns cut down hundreds of the charging Reds but the momentum of the attack carried some Communist troops into Allied trenches.

Bitter Fighting
This was the third straight day of heavy pre-armistice attacks by the Reds. The latest assaults centered on U. N. lines running through the former Red stronghold called the "Iron Triangle."

White fighting was reported from White Horse Mountain above Chorwon east to the Pukhan River.

The day's biggest Red blow was aimed at U. S. Third Division units who have beaten back two days of attacks against Outpost Harry, 10 miles northeast of Chorwon.

B26 light bombers roared to the aid of South Korean soldiers battling the Reds on the East-Central Sector. The bombers used radar to unload high explosives on the Communists.

Littlestown's Summer "Rec" Program Will Open On Monday

The summer recreation program will be conducted for the children of the community again this year, under the sponsorship of the Littlestown Borough School Board. The program will begin on Monday and continue until August 14. The daily schedule will be as follows: In the morning, 10 to 11:30 a.m. for the younger children, pre-school to nine years of age; in the afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. will be for all age groups.

Mrs. Kay C. Senti and Clayton L. Evans, physical education instructors at the Littlestown High School, will be in charge of the program. Mrs. Senti will be at the playground in the morning and both instructors will be present to supervise the afternoon activities.

Some of the activities planned include: Games, relays, softball, tennis tournaments, and horseshoe contests. In the crafts division there will be wood projects, plaster of Paris moulding, leather projects and the making of wallets, comb cases, pencil pouches, etc. A reading period will be held for the younger children, as well as picture coloring sessions.

Plan Varied Activities
The smaller children will also learn to paint stones for paper weights, make dish wall plaques, invertebrate toys lanterns out of oatmeal boxes, paper masks and yarn dolls. Possibly each Friday afternoon there will be a special event, such as a decorated umbrella show, doll show, wacky hat show, pet show, on wheels event and many others. Parents of the children participating in the program are asked to watch for newspaper announcement for events of the coming week, so that they may provide their children with the necessary supplies and materials. If parents wish to make any suggestions concerning the program, they should contact one of the instructors and the suggestion will be given consideration.

For the first week, the younger children will learn to make paper masks during the morning sessions. The boys and girls are asked to come to the playground on Monday morning with bags large enough to fit over the head and upper part of the body. There will also be picture coloring and drawing.

Enrollment will take place on Monday and since the program is being offered as a public service, its operation depends entirely upon the interest of the children and the attendance.

President Eisenhower has taken the position that a dollar spent in arming America's allies is likely up to a certain point to give greater returns than a dollar spent in producing military equipment for this nation's own armed forces.

He said his committee will review the foreign relations committee's cutback of a proposed fund for special weapons—to 100 million dollars instead of the 250 million requested for production of such weapons abroad.

ARMED FORCES BEFORE ALLIES, SENATOR SAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said today America's allies must take second place to U. S. armed forces in delivery of military equipment under the foreign aid program.

Saltonstall, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he will move in the Senate next week to bring before his group the $5,318,000,000 foreign aid bill. The measure was formally approved yesterday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"We want to take a look-see at the military aspects of this program, to determine that it does not conflict in any way with the buildup of our own armed forces, particularly in aircraft," the Massachusetts senator said.

WORTH

Both "rich" and "poor" as words appear
To have for all a meaning clear.
"Rich" means worth, as all admit,
And "poor" implies the lack of it.
But is a man's worth fully told
By stocks and bonds that he may hold?

Are there not many ways on earth
For man to gain increasing worth?
Is there not fortune that depends
On pride of family and friends?
Is money, that a cause may live,
The best of gifts men have to give?

In service both to code and creed
The rich man may be poor, indeed.
In traits that all delight to see
The poor man may the richer be.
Thus "rich" and "poor" are terms
Of purse.

Which gracious living can reverse.

YOUR BODY—AND HEALTH

Good health is often looked upon as a gift, but there is a great deal of error in this. Good health is the result of intelligence, in a careful study of one's own body and a knowledge of what it is capable of enduring or handling.

It takes a great deal of planning and will power to gain and keep good health. It's like owning an automobile. If you take pride in it and give it good care, it will run smoothly, give you pleasure and last a great many years. But the finest machine wears away quickly and gets to "ailing" with poor attention and hard usage.

William Muldoon, the great wrestler and physical trainer, used to say that it was surprising how the body responded to just a little kindness.

Our bodies were given to us last for a long time. They will stand a great deal of abuse. "Some more than others. But all respond to intelligent care and kindness.

The efficient man or woman is the one who has an inward reverence for his or her body. Bad combinations of food, the excessive indulgence in stimulants, whipping the body to do more than it can stand, give nothing but trouble and suffering in the end. On the other hand, an intelligent attention returns glorious dividends in success and happiness throughout the years.

The powerful man is the healthy man. He has motive power. He has reserve power. He becomes a DO man.

The healthiest people are those who have diversions, who exercise, who have many interests, who do not slave in grooves.

to Sargo, instead.
Matt informs the FBI, of course, who pick up Sargo. But Pierre still isn't sure, and tries to walk out of the U. S. Employment Bureau with Matt's job-holder card file. Matt knows the missing cards now at the FBI would be his undoing, so he starts a fire in Burns' wastebasket (the man always emptied his pipe embers there) and in the confusion trips Pierre who is knocked out on the floor. The cops come for Pierre, relating that Sargo had involved him in the attempted death of the head barber.

The "Stars and Stripes," with thirteen stars in a field of blue, was first adopted on June 14, 1777, by order of the Continental Congress. In this connection is the romantic story of Betsy Ross.

Betsy was a patriotic Philadelphia seamstress and a friend of George Washington. He, with others appointed on a committee by Congress, visited her in June, 1776, requesting her to make an American flag.

George Washington sketched a rough design, and with bits of red and white and blue cloth which she had in her little shop, she followed his directions and even made some helpful suggestions. The flag she so diligently cut and stitched was accepted by the Congress.

In describing the flag, George Washington is credited with saying: "We take the star from heaven; the red from the Mother Country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her; and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

To Americans there is no other flag as beautiful as the "Stars and Stripes." It is a fitting symbol of all that Washington meant it to represent, a flag of a free people.

The first recorded celebration of Flag Day was on June 14, 1885, when B. J. Cigrand, a school teacher of Fredonia, Wisconsin, and his pupils observed this event.

Bobby Feller Faces Yankees In "Last Chance" Series Opener; Brooklyn Tops Milwaukee Again

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleveland's Bobby Feller, never a fireball against the New York Yankees, today draws the tremendous task of trying to stop them from winning 16 straight.

Only Cleveland holds a wisp of a chance—barring a complete Yankee collapse. Today's game has to be the big one. The Indians are 7½ behind and they have two more coming up with New York tomorrow. The season is a third over. Since nobody else is beating the Yankees, Cleveland can't afford to let this series slip by without gaining some ground.

The Indians haven't been hitting recently and last night was no exception. Their two runs were homers, by Dale Mitchell and Hank Majeski, but they got only four other safeties. The Yanks, as usual, had one big inning. They scored three runs in the seventh on four singles and a pair of walks. Whitey Ford, lifted during the rally for a pinch hitter, won his seventh straight.

Braves Split
The National League lead changed hands for the fourth time in two weeks as Milwaukee split a night doubleheader with Pittsburgh, losing 4-2 and winning 1-2, while Brooklyn defeated Chicago, 7-4. Brooklyn now leads by half a game.

St. Louis whipped the New York Giants, 3-1, and Cincinnati surprised Philadelphia, 4-1.

In other American League games Detroit edged Washington, 2-1; Boston nipped Chicago, 4-3 and Philadelphia ran the St. Louis Browns' losing streak to 11 with a 5-3 triumph.

19th For Mathews
Eddie Mathews smashed his 19th home run and two triples in the first Milwaukee-Pittsburgh game.

The Braves roared back with 10 runs in the first inning of the nightcap on nine singles, permitting Max Surkont to coast to his eighth victory.

Brooklyn blew an early three run lead against the Cubs, then rallied against Sheldon Jones for two runs in the fourth and one more in the seventh. Jim Hughes, in relief, picked up his first victory.

Hits Pinch Triple
Grant Dunlap made one of his rare appearances as a pinch hitter for the Cardinals at New York and delivered a triple with two on base as the Red Birds came up with three runs in the seventh.

Jackie Collum of Cincinnati, the smallest pitcher in the majors, went the distance for the second time since he first hit the big leagues in 1951 and picked up his first victory in two years. Earl Torgeson's homer was the only damaging one of six Philadelphia hits.

Jim Delsing provided a sudden death finish at Detroit when he blasted the first pitch in the last of the ninth into the stands for a home run. The Senators had tied the game in the top of the ninth.

Robinson Homers
Hector (Skinny) Brown, a wash-out when he worked for the Chicago White Sox, came back to haunt his old mates as he combined with Ellis Kinder to beat them on seven hits.

For the second time in two days Eddie Robinson brought Philadelphia a victory with a home run. He beat Chicago Thursday with a ninth inning homer and at St. Louis last night he broke a 3-3 tie with a circuit clout which also scored Dave Philley.

Matmen Return Hershey June 19

HERSHEY, June 13 — Four winners on Promoter Bert Bertolini's initial wrestling card at the Hershey Sports Arena on May 29 have been signed for return appearances on the season's second mat program here Friday night, June 19.

The quartet includes Sonny Myers, of St. Joseph, Mo.; Ruffy Silverstein, one of the most popular grapplers in the game; Mike Paldousis, former football great at the University of Tennessee, and the 300-pound Golden Terror, who prefers to call Nashville, Tenn., his home.

Bertolini has matched Myers with Reggie Lisowski, blond TV favorite from Chicago; Tony Martinelli, Italian veteran from Clifton, N. J., will provide the opposition for Silverstein; Lenny Montana, erstwhile Zebra Kid, will hook up with Paldousis, while Dick Shikat, recognized as world's wrestling champion in the late 1920's, will be in the opposite corner to the Golden Terror.

These four matches comprise the supporting card to the return meeting between Buddy (Nature Boy) Rogers and the sensational Antonio (Argentina) Rocca. The main event will be decided over the one-fall-to-a-finish route.

DAVE SISLER IS WINNER IN HIS FIRST PRO TILT

Dave Sisler, Albany's bonus baby from Princeton University, brought a prom queen's curve and an educated fast ball into the Eastern League.

The bespectacled righthander, who graduates from Princeton Monday, cut the Elmira Pioneers down with five hits last night in winning his first professional start, 11-2.

In other games, the Schenectady Blue Jays beat the Binghamton Triplets, 8-5, the Scranton Miners snapped the league-leading Reading Indians' six-game winning streak, 1-0, and the Wilkes-Barre Barons trimmed the Williamsport Athletics, 5-1.

Son Of George
Sisler, son of George Sisler, former first base star of the St. Louis Browns, struck out 12 Pioneers and walloped a double to drive in two runs at Elmira. The Senators backed him up with a 15-hit attack, including five by Bruce Ohlinger. Tom Bigham took the loss.

At Schenectady, two Blue Jays scored on reliever Bob Bonebrake's wild pitches in the eighth inning, but the Binghamton starter, Mark Freeman, was charged with the loss. Dick Smullen chalked up his first victory.

The visiting Miners swiped the game from Reading by scoring their only run on a double steal in the second inning. Buddy Daley, who had won five straight for the Indians, suffered his first loss on a three-hit. Winner Dick Welteroth issued five safeties.

Singles by rookie Dick Camilli and shortstop Tom Korczowski accounted for Wilkes-Barre's triumph at Williamsport. Between them they drove in four runs off the slants of Ozzie van Brabant. Harry Desert set the Athletics down with seven hits.

CARTER IN TKO OVER ARAUJO; SEEKS GAVILAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter is taking aim at Kid Gavilan's welter title after disposing of the challenge of toe-dancing George Araujo.

Willie Ketchum, Carter's manager, said today he would post a $2,000 forfeit next week for a title shot at the Cuban Keed who rules the 147-pound division.

The champ had a three quarter-inch cut over his right eye that required three or four stitches after he ended the scrap with a TKO in 2:16 of the 13th. That cut was opened in the third and widened in the fifth of his successful defense.

Trained In Voting
Carter trained in the official voting at the end of eight rounds against the nimble young challenger from Providence, R. I. Bouncing in and out with his flicking jab, he made a fight of it. Always pursued by Carter, the 22-year-old challenger occasionally would stand and flurry back.

Suddenly Carter struck in the ninth with a furious burst that floored Araujo twice and left him confused and wobbly at the bell.

Two crushing body punches in the 13th crumpled Araujo, prompting Referee Al Berli to stop it. Up to the 13th Bert and Judge Harold Barnes had Carter out front 7-5 and Judge Bert Grant saw it 8-4 for the champ. The AP card agreed with Grant.

Special Meeting Of Council On Monday
Borough Council will hold a special meeting at the fire engine house Monday night at 8 o'clock to open bids for a motor-driven sprayer to be used in spraying to eliminate mosquitoes.

Specifications call for an orchard-type sprayer with a 300-gallon tank and 20-gallon-per-minute pump. Advertising for bids was authorized at the regular council meeting on June 1.

Majority Of Belmont Park Fans Want Native Dancer To Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Many thousands of those who gather at Belmont Park today for the running of the Belmont Stakes, greatest of this country's three-year-old classics, will be there mainly for the thrill which comes of seeing a champion crowned in any sport. In many instances, gambling on the Belmont might be said to be almost incidental.

The carnival atmosphere of the Kentucky Derby will be completely missing when the field, last survivors of many hundreds of thoroughbred colts who were foaled in high hope, parade to the gate for the start of the searching mile and one-half race. The preliminaries are over, and this is for the heavy-weight championship.

Favor Native Dancer
It is possible that nine out of 10 spectators will be there in the hope and expectation of seeing Native Dancer finally prove himself one of the truly great horses the sport has known. Al Vanderbilt's big, muscled grey is the supreme attraction, his opponents merely the spear bearers.

Twice the glamor colt has failed quite to live up to his tremendous billing as a worthy successor to Citation. On the strength of his unbeaten two-year-old career the long-striding son of Polynesians was pictured as a sort of super horse, a brute of a runner who would drive his rivals into the ground in the stretch.

The first great disappointment came when, under less than a perfect ride, the Dancer was beaten by the span of a hand in the Derby. His admirers claimed, though, and perhaps rightly, that he would have swept past the outsider Dark Star in another stride. They said wait for the Preakness.

Long Neck Margin
He won that one, all right, but in far less than the impressive fashion expected of true champions. His margin over Jim Norris' surprising but the Binghamton starter, Mark Freeman, was charged with the loss. Dick Smullen chalked up his first victory.

The visiting Miners swiped the game from Reading by scoring their only run on a double steal in the second inning. Buddy Daley, who had won five straight for the Indians, suffered his first loss on a three-hit. Winner Dick Welteroth issued five safeties.

Singles by rookie Dick Camilli and shortstop Tom Korczowski accounted for Wilkes-Barre's triumph at Williamsport. Between them they drove in four runs off the slants of Ozzie van Brabant. Harry Desert set the Athletics down with seven hits.

"Bubba" Church Is Traded To Chicago

NEW YORK (AP) — Beating the major league trading deadline by three days, the New York Yankees today had shortstop insurance and the Cincinnati Redlegs two new pitchers in a two for one deal with the Chicago Cubs.

The Yanks last night purchased light hitting Willie Miranda from the St. Louis Browns for about $10,000 and released pitcher Bob Miller to their Kansas City farm in the American Association. Miranda will be used as insurance against the injury of Phil Rizzuto.

The Redlegs, seeking pitching strength for some time, sent Bubba Church to the Cubs for right hander Bob Kelly and rookie southpaw Fred Baczewski in a straight player deal.

Church, obtained from the Phillies in May, 1952, had a 3-3 record this year. Kelly's only decision was a defeat. Baczewski has appeared in nine games as a reliever without having a win and lost record.

Randy Turpin To Fight In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Randy Turpin of Britain has agreed to come to New York in late August to fight the Bobo Olson-Paddy Young winner for the undisputed world middleweight title. The exact date and site, probably Thursday, Aug. 27 at the Yankee Stadium, will be determined later.

Olson and Young, a pair of 24-year-old boxers, meet Friday night at Madison Square Garden over the 15-round route for the American title. Turpin, former world champion, won the European title Tuesday by whipping France's Charles Humez on a decision after 15 rounds at London.

WILSON FIGHTS TONIGHT

BOSTON (AP) — Wilbur Wilson, promising Boston welterweight, makes his national television boxing debut against Charley (Muscles) Goulart of Somerville, in a 10-round feature bout tonight at Mechanics Building.

Lentz Legion vs. VFW.

The Moose remained unbeaten in the Softball League but were forced to go two extra innings before topping the VFW 8-7 in a snappy and hard fought game Friday evening.

After "Doc" Cole homered with two mates aboard in the fourth to give the Moose a 5-0 edge the Vets fought back and tied the count at 6-6 in the last of the final inning when Fazenbaker poled a homerun with a mate on base. The Moose employed the bunt to advantage in the ninth and tabbed a pair of runs. In the last half of the frame Vets scored a run and had the tying tally on second base when the final out was made. Brennan also tabbed a homerun for the league-leaders.

The Glenn L. Bream garagemen snapped out of their long losing ways by crushing the Elks 20-7 in the nightcap. Seven runs in the fourth and eight in the fifth turned the trick. Frazer and Carter paced the attack for the garagemen and each rapped out circuit blows. Smith collected two of the Elks' five hits.

135 Athletes Enter AAU Track Meet

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some 135 athletes from three states opened fire on the record books today in the 41st annual Middle Atlantic AAU Track and Field Championships.

The games will feature an interesting battle pitting a promising flock of recent high school stars against eight defending champions, six record holders and two IC4A titlists.

All will be seeking a berth in the National AAU meet to be held in Dayton, O., June 26-27.

The field events are expected to highlight the program with new records expected in the high jump, shot put and the javelin.

However, Red Perry, Coatesville High School's ace hurdles star, is expected to wage

WOULD INTEREST S. STUDENTS IN TRUCK INDUSTRY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association Friday received a proposal to interest high school students in the motor truck industry.

George Bunn, of Norristown, who has been working in that field in the Norristown area, told delegates to the convention:

"We must make use of this great potential among our boys and girls in Pennsylvania. In that way we can further raise the level and efficiency of employees in motor transport."

"I found in my community that 205 boys out of some 1,300 were interested in our field. Five of these want to go to college. The other 200 want to go into the mechanical and operator field. Let's give them encouragement and advice."

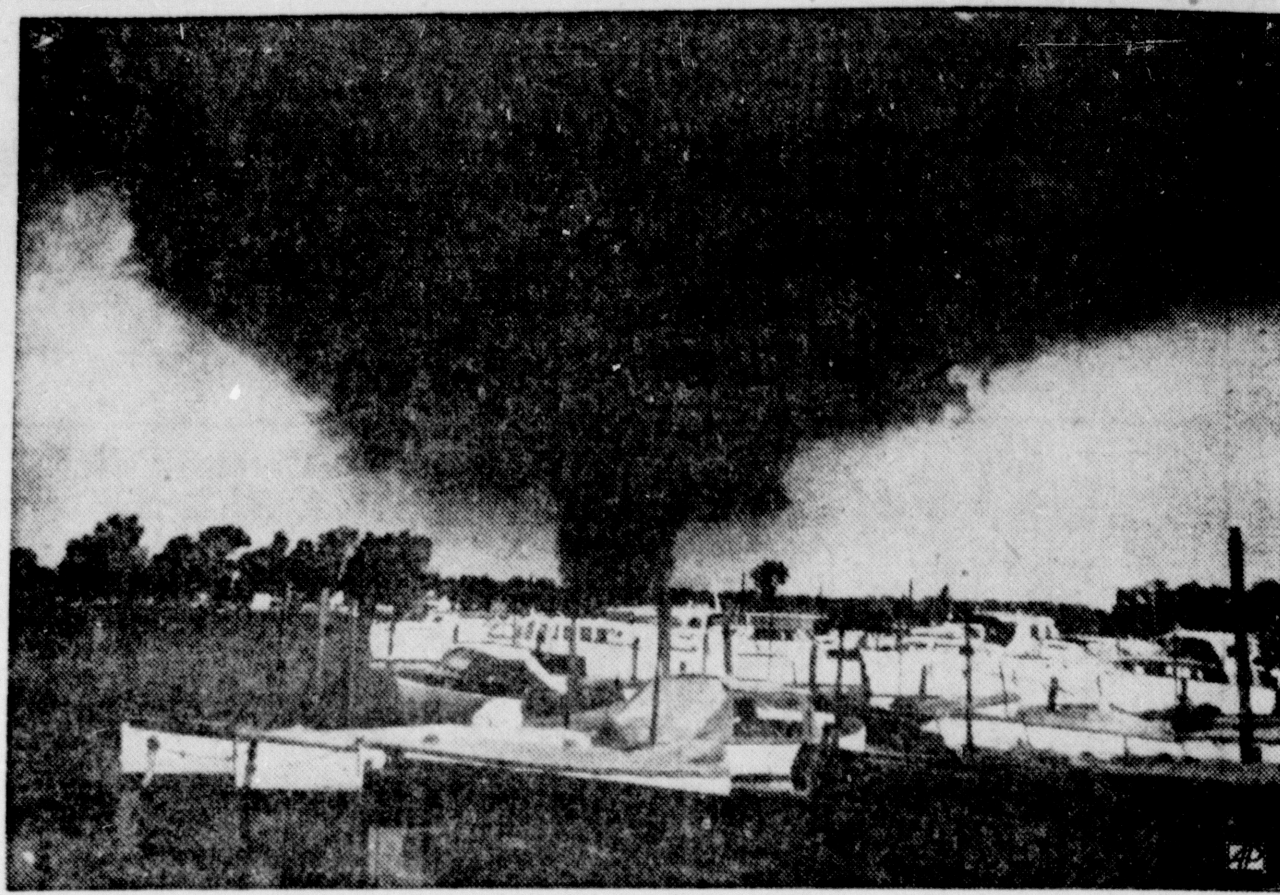

"Benefits Agriculture"
The association, after Bunn's address, considered a proposal to set up a committee for study of the plan with the possibility of carrying it out on a statewide basis.

The two-day meeting opened just a day after a State House of Representatives committee approved a bill increasing the weight limits of commonly used trucks.

Truck operators from all over Pennsylvania were on hand for the convention, at which praise was voiced for the new bill.

F. B. Moerr, Lewistown, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association president, said the bill will "benefit agriculture, business and industry in every community in the state."

Memorial Day was first made a legal holiday in New York in 1873 and is now observed in all but a few of the southern states of the United States.

This ominous funnel-shaped spout is the tornado which ripped through the Temperance and Erie, Mich., area, June 8, leaving four persons dead and numerous injured in its wake. The photo was made by John Burdo, an amateur cameraman who was working on his boat at Point Place, near Toledo. On sighting the funnel Burdo dropped his tools, grabbed his camera and made three quick shots, after which the whirling spout disappeared.

Several Pennsylvania Women Showed Inventive Genius To Parallel Efforts Of The Men

Attention has been frequently called to the large number of important inventions due to the enterprising and imagination of Pennsylvanians. Many of these inventions, from the lightning rod to the moving picture, from bifocal spectacles to the half-tone screen, have had an important influence on modern life.

During the 19th century, that great era of invention, the women of Pennsylvania exercised their ingenuity and displayed their imagination on a scale quite paralleling the efforts of Pennsylvania men. The records of the U. S. Patent Office exhibit a brilliant variety of inventions by Pennsylvania women in every domestic field, from the griddle to the girdle, from quaint or delicate devices for the arrangement of flowers, the display of pictures or the cleaning of wallpaper, to large-scale mechanical contrivances for the manufacture of barrels, the operation of hydraulic engines and the transmission of power to cable cars.

A list of a few of these inventions — some of them highly typical of their age and some of continued usefulness — might interest those who believe that the ladies of Pennsylvania's late Victorian period (from the Civil War to the turn of the century) were wholly occupied by turning pale at the sight of a mouse, or swooning in the arms of the tall, handsome stranger who halted the runaway horse.

Free Runaway Horse
Louisa Sleeper of Philadelphia on March 13, 1877, the State Planning Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce points out, patented a device to make that latter contingency unnecessary. Miss Sleeper's patent covers an ingenious mechanical device for detaching a runaway horse from a four-wheeled carriage by a mere touch of the finger permitting the horse to pursue its own wild way and allowing the carriage to come to rest with its occupants undamaged.

In contrast to this highly dramatic invention was the patent granted Marie Streisguth and Emma Schmitzler of Philadelphia in June 1863, for what was denominated a Banelore toy, a wooden disk which spins on a string, rolling up and down the string with an action strikingly suggestive of that of a toy still quite popular in the springtime in every city in the United States; or Bertha Kaufman's invention of a wash board provided with a comfortable breast rest, for the benefit of mothers with large families; or Magdalene Holden's invention of an elegant and convenient pocket spittoon.

Invents New Pump
In the more strictly mechanical field, Emily E. Tassey of McKeesport was granted in 1880, a patent for a siphon propeller-driven pump to provide "means for discharging large quantities of water as from a coffer-dam or drydock into a river."

Maria Beasley of Philadelphia, inventor of many mechanical devices, was granted a patent in 1880 on a life raft, "fire proof, compact, safe and readily launched and instantly available." The series of Miss Beasley's inventions reveals mechanical imagination of a very high order and deals with machinery for every type of operation in the manufacture of barrels, including a patent on the first, or one of the first, modern production lines. Among other inventions of Maria Beasley is a machine for the mass production of shoes, on which she was granted a patent in 1882 on the same day on which she was granted a second patent for an improvement on her life raft. In April of that same year she had received a patent on a machine for driving hoops upon casks, and in 1884 for a barrel-making machine so complex that it required five pages of closely-written technical specifications to describe its operation.

Steam Cookers
More typically feminine inventions include a means for attaching artificial hair to the head, patented by Lisetta Presser of Philadelphia in 1881; steam cookers, invented by Elizabeth Gallagher of Bradford, Pennsylvania, and the invention of a more shapely leg for doll babies, patented by Mary Steuber in Philadelphia in 1878. They also include many varieties of corsets with interesting mechanical attachments, textiles which present the appearance of braided hair, electric belts, a self-heating flat iron, devised by Mary Jackson of Kennett Square and Sara Ball of Frankford, and perhaps that most famous of all inventions of Pennsylvania women, a flat iron with a detachable handle, patented by Mary Potts in 1871 with a re-issue in 1872 and 1879.

There was a time when the Potts flat iron was a familiar object in every American household. Less feminine in character was the cut-off for hydraulic engines, invented by Lily Tubbs of Philadelphia in 1885, the crane-turning mechanism patented by Camille Mercator of Braddock, Pennsylvania, in 1892, and an extremely elaborate transfer apparatus for cable cars, permitting the switch of such cars from one track to another, devised by Alice G. Middleton of Philadelphia in 1890.

"Mustache Spoons"
Though many of these inventions are no longer of a high order of practical use — like Ellen Mitchell's improvement in mustache spoons, permitting the wearer of a mustache to "convey soup or other liquids to his mouth by means of a spoon without danger of soiling or disfiguring his mustache," or the hinged hoop skirt with adjustable bustle, devised by Emilee Laub as late as 1890 — many of them are devices which, in one form or another, are still in use, like the spring hair curler which Sally Ann Early of Philadelphia patented in 1867. All of them however, the State Planning Board notes, bear eloquent testimony to the mental alertness of our grandmothers, and deal a hard blow at the myth of tight-laced little ladies subject to swoons and vapors at a breath of bad news, and carry always in their reticules that handy bottle of smelling salts, which many of their granddaughters have replaced with a lipstick and a cigarette lighter.

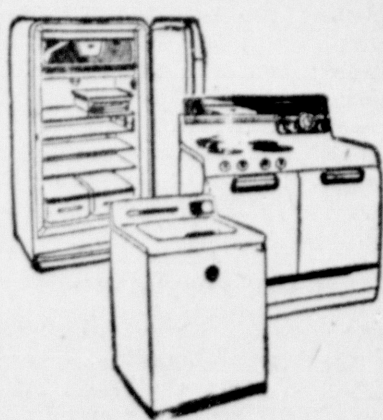

About 25 per cent of petroleum is available on the average as gasoline without using the "cracking" process.

You don't need a car to learn that you can get there faster on the level.

How's That Steering?

Little attention is paid to the subject but a sloppy hold on the steering wheel is a fruitful contributing cause of accidents and fatalities. First we have those one-arm artists who hold the roof up with the left hand while resting the right hand on the steering wheel. Next we have those who like finger-tip control and who wouldn't have a chance if a tire blew out. Another version is a hold that may catch a finger if the wheel suddenly moves one way or the other sharply. While hands should grasp the wheel rim it is wise to have a finger of each hand part way round wheel spokes, so that the rim won't slide through the hands.

Every race driver is so concerned with steering he could not for an instant be careless about this vital control. He pulls himself out of more predicaments with the steering wheel than with his brakes or the accelerator.

When A Remedy Fails

If you are advised to drive fast for awhile in order to clear up valve stickage and trouble with the hydraulic valve lifters, and if this treatment doesn't do the trick, the indications are that the oil pump is sucking in air. Foaming of the oil or bubbles in the oil is a definite handicap to these lifters and their action. It can be more troublesome than dirt. Over filling the crankcase will also cause foaming.

Sports Cars On Parade

Many a good motor book has come across my desk this past year but one that seems to me to strike a very responsive chord in motordom is the new "Sports Cars Album" by John Wheelock Freeman with colorful photos by Alexander Georges. In his introduction to the book editor Lloyd Mallan points out that while American car manufacturers have been going to Europe for new designs the American motorist remains "woefully uninformed about European cars in general and sports cars in particular."

Author Freeman was consulted by the Museum of Modern Art in 1951 on the matter of organizing the famous Automobile Design Show, while Georges was the show's official photographer. Compiling the book required their visiting France, England, Italy and Germany. Geoff Healey, Pinin Farina and Sidney Allard were among the foreign authorities consulted. It wasn't easy getting many of the pictures.

The new work is one of the series of Fawcett Books. It makes inexpensive and most pleasant reading.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"If you have been struggling with the problem of setting the throttle so that you can fast idle the engine you may be interested in a little trick that is being passed around."

"This calls for use of a monkey wrench which is tightened up to take hold of the brake pedal. The handle then presses against the accelerator pedal. It isn't difficult at all to adjust for just the right engine speed for the fast idling. Mighty useful if the battery is weak and you need to fast idle the engine with the car out on the driveway for ten minutes or so."

Speaking Of Compression

For the benefit of those who like to mull over the technical points about engines I should like to explain that finding compression ratio is a matter of dividing the total volume of space in a cylinder (when the piston is at bottom dead center) by the compression volume which is the space when the piston is at top dead center. The final compression pressure depends not only on the compression ratio but also on the pressure of the gas in the cylinder when the piston is at bottom dead center. Naturally atmospheric pressure is involved in this.

Keep Them In Mind

As many who formerly used clutch and brake boosters learned from experience these devices do not work properly unless the intake air screen is kept clean.

Warped wheels are not a too unusual cause of mysterious tire wear as well as failure to maintain alignment.

There's always danger of getting inferior fluid if adding to the hydraulic brake supply on a trip, so either have the supply checked before you start or carry a can of approved fluid with you.

Room for Improvement

In spite of all the talk about automatic transmissions many are wondering why cars still have a shift control. Why has this not been done away with? Why is it still possible for drivers to make fatal mistakes in handling these selector levers? Why hasn't the industry paid more attention to simplification of this feature of the drive?

I recall all too vividly that the SGV (ever hear of it?) was equipped with buttons for selection of gears. Control was electric. On today's car the selection still is manual. How come?

Right Kind Of Trouble

Among the things that have mystified me in the operation of my own car was the piston slap which developed several months after a motor overhaul. Every morning when starting up I would get that unmistakable slapping noise. It would last for a mile or two, and then disappear. So I developed in the summer, so I naturally anticipated that there would be some additional ring wear when fall arrived. But the cold weather came and passed and the motor suddenly became quiet as a plugged out TV set. My guess is that if the engine had developed a sticking ring, a change in oil during the fall season may have been the remedy.

One For The Book

Not many motorists realize that in some instances it is not possible to re-use parts which have been removed merely to make room to replace some other part. A typical example is the fan on one car which if removed to replace the water pump must be replaced, too. If this little rule isn't observed there will be a knock.

For Future Reference

If the engine is showing no interest in starting, although being cranked fast enough, you might consider the ammeter to see if the pointer bounces a little. There should normally be this flutter between three and five amperes on the discharge side while cranking is in process. Without this action of the ammeter you may find that there is a short between the breaker arm and the coil.

What's Your Trouble?
Q. My car seems a lot noisier with the new muffler and tail pipe. Naturally I am disappointed as I expected just the reverse. Mrs. N. J. L.

A. Either the new muffler is too small for the motor or it is of lighter stock than the original. It will, however, become quieter as it collects carbon, especially around the connections with the exhaust manifold and the tail pipe.

Q. The car chatters badly when backing up, especially if there is a slight grade. F. R. R.

A. This is rather common. You may be a little too careful, not feeding enough gas and making the job more deliberate. However, sometimes chatter is due to need for a motor tune-up. Excessive looseness in the rear end is also something to check into.

Q. There is no way to lubricate the water pump on my car. Is there any effective way to give it a little help toward longer life of service? Wm. G.

A. Yes. Use soluble oil rust inhibitor in the cooling system. This is most effective in lubricating water pumps internally.

Q. There has been a grating noise in the transmission of my car ever since a new snap ring was put into the synchronizer for the second speed gear. R. R. Jr.

A. Possibly there is some dirt in the transmission or part of a broken ring. I suggest first flushing the gearbox with one of the solvents used for sticky valves.

Q. I have been troubled with excessive ping in the engine of my car. We have fooled with the timing and have even taken out carbon. The car isn't overloaded. Have examined the head for sharp points. Have tried different makes and heat types of spark plugs, but without any effect on the ping. T. J.

A. I notice that you did not say anything about carburetion. This ping could be due to a lean mixture.

Q. In spite of rebuilding the generator we can't get sufficient charge. There is nothing wrong with the regulator. Because of the way the car must be used the generator must work at peak to keep the battery up. Any suggestions? L. S. McM.

A. Why don't you apply some dressing to the generator belt. It may slip just a little at higher speeds.

Q. Does the pressure cap weaken the radiator? I have been told to break the seal in the cap on my car. G. H. D.

A. I wouldn't do that. This summer the pressure cap will be most helpful in preventing loss of coolant should you be obliged to give the engine a lot of extra work on long hills. The radiator will easily stand the pressure.

Q. I hear a rattle in the steering wheel. Why? Wm. R.

A. This probably is due to looseness of the selector lever.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF FOR MARRIES ITALIAN PIANIST

NEW YORK (AP)—For a granddaughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the pianist son of an immigrant Italian barber it was the biggest day of their lives.

It was the day that they—Sara Delano Roosevelt and Anthony Di Bonaventura—became man and wife.

But for the humble East Side Manhattan neighborhood their marriage yesterday had the glitter, and the promise, and the hope of which dreams are made.

OVER 350,000 STEEL WORKERS GET PAY RAISE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—More than 350,000 employees of U. S. Steel Corp. and four other Big Steel producers began making 8½ cents more an hour today.

Within a short time it is expected all 600,000 CIO United Steelworkers members in basic steel will have similarly fattened pay envelopes.

Big Steel, pace setter of the industry, granted the increase yesterday in matter of fact fashion.

There was no fanfare. The increase was made effective immediately. The employees of U. S. Steel and the four other companies had been averaging from $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

Within hours after U. S. Steel had signed the pact affecting 170,000 of its employees, the others fell into line. There was no argument, no fuss. It was as simple as that.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., second biggest producer, agreed to the raise for its 80,000 workers. Then came Republic Steel which has about 45,000 USW members. In order, followed Youngstown Sheet and Tube, 20,000, and Jones and Laughlin, about 40,000.

The quick settlement came well in advance of the day when USW members could strike. They were entitled to walk out July 1 if their demands were not met.

There was immediate speculation on what effect the wage boost will

Ex-Solon Indicted In Bank Shortage

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted four men—one of them former U. S. Congressman James P. Scoblick of Archbald, Pa.—in connection with a $169,000 shortage at the Mayfield State Bank.

Two brothers of the congressman, Frank, 36, and Anthony, 34, and Michael Senio, 51, a former cashier at the bank, were named in two true bills containing 65 counts including misapplication of bank funds, conspiracy to misapply bank funds and using the mails to defraud.

Also named in the indictment was Scoblick Bros., a fruit processing plant operated by the brothers at Archbald.

have on the nation's economy. The Eisenhower administration, admittedly keeping a close eye on the situation, says it has been trying to avoid an inflationary spiral.

Most observers believe the basic price of steel will rise about $3.50 to $4 a ton. If that happens, the prices of materials in which steel is used might rise. And those price hikes could be passed on to the average American—the consumer.

No longer bound by government controls, steel producers can increase prices at will.

David J. McDonald, conducting his first bargaining as USW president, and John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president in charge of negotiations, signed the agreement after formal ratification of the increase by the union's executive board and its Wage Policy Committee.

YOUNG MOTHER OF 5 FOUND DEAD BY COPS

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP)—A young mother was found shot to death near here and a search was underway today for her husband and five young sons.

The husband and youngsters, ranging in age from 18 months to 9 years, were last seen in Somerset County, Pennsylvania, traveling in a maroon, 1946-47 Buick sedanette, police said. They put out a pickup notice for the husband, urging officers to "use caution." State Police Lieut. Martin M. Puncke said he was "terribly worried about the fate" of the children.

Authorities said they could not determine immediately whether 27-year-old Mrs. May Ann Shaulis was slain or took her own life.

No Gun Found
Dr. Gustave H. Faubert, Anne Arundel County medical examiner, said no gun was found but there was a .32 caliber cartridge shell on the floor, along with an upfired .32 caliber bullet.

She was found stretched out on a sofa, clad in a night gown and a pink bathrobe and with a bullet wound through the chest. The body was in the family's little yellow cottage at Harundale, a few miles south of here.

Pennsylvania police said the husband, Francis Shaulis Jr., appeared yesterday at his father's home in Littleton, a small Somerset County community. The father, Francis Sr., said his son had the five boys with him and told him Mrs. Shaulis had shot herself.

Notified Police
The father said the son was upset and stayed only a few minutes. He said he believed they were returning to Maryland but expressed fear for the safety of the son and children.

The father was described as bricklayer, about 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 183.

The elder Shaulis called Pennsylvania police, told them of the visit and Pennsylvania authorities messaged Maryland officers. Maryland police found the body late yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Faubert said Mrs. Shaulis apparently died sometime during the night. He said he'd withhold a verdict pending further examination.
